The gymnasium at Fort Ethan Allen took on a military aspect in every respect Friday evening, the occasion being a reception to the officers and ladies of the 15th cavalry, who arrived at the garrison on the 21st, from Fort Meyer, Va., given by the old officers and ladies of the fort. It was a sort of union of the entire regiment of officers and ladies of the 15th cavalry, this being the first time that these people have ever all been together.

The Brattleboro branch of the United Garment Workers' union held a meeting in G. A. R. hall recently to meet Miss Lillian Fredericks of Indianapolis, a member of the executive board of the national body, and arrange the schedule of prices which will prevail in the two Brattleboro overall factories the coming year. A schedule was submitted to the owners of the factories the early part of the week, but it was refused on the ground that it took away what little profit they were making.

Barre Opera House

JAPAN'S HOARDED GOLD.

Patriot Many Years Ago Put $500,000
Away for a National Emergency.

We are often reminded that old Japan is still with us and that its survival adds not merely a picturesque but also a noble element to the character of the nation, writes the Tokyo correspondent of the London Times.

An illustration recently occurred. Nearly 300 years ago, when Togogawa Ieyasu captured the castle of Osaka from the talk's widow, Yodo, and her son Hideyori, he found there a large part of the treasure which the great captain and statesman had accumulated. It was in the form of gold hoards, for the talk's fancy had been thus to stamp upon the precious metal an indication of the warlike uses to which it was destined.

The Tokugawa leader distributed a great part of the treasure among his chief retainers, and to his second, Norinaga, he gave 300 ingots, with an injunction that the gold should be held as a reserve for use in a national emergency. Norinaga received in lieu of the colossal castle built by him at Nagoya the ingots lay untouched until the fall of feudalism in 1874.

The feudal chiefs were then reduced to the position of simple gentlemen with incomes representing a mere fraction of their previous revenues. But no official scrutiny was made into the contents of their strong rooms, and thus many emerged from the debacle in a much better financial position than the bald figures of the state's communication scheme suggested.

The Owari ingots, however, being reserved from ordinary uses by the injunction of Iyeyasu—an injunction of absolutely binding force in the eyes of his descendants—remained inviolate until a short time ago, when their owner, Marquis Girel, present representative of the Owari family, decided that the national emergency contemplated by his illustrious ancestor had come. The ingots have a value of 1,000,000 yen—$500,000—in modern money.

Marquis Girel repaired to the tomb of his forefather, Norinaga, and there, in the presence of his sons, his principal relatives and some of his family's former vassals, invoked Norinaga's spirit to witness that the trust reposed in him by the Tokugawa chief had been faithfully observed through three centuries and that to transfer the treasure now to the coffers of the state seemed a true interpretation of the purpose of Iyeyasu.

A great, big dollar's worth of fun for 10, 20 and 30 cents, at the "Fannie Wood show," opera house tonight.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair,
No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it eats the scalp. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

KAISER'S ANGER AT A BISHOP.

Told Very Rev. Benzler His Duty Was to Bless, Not to Curse.

Bishop Benzler of Metz has been called to Rome, the German government having made a complaint against him, says a Berlin special cable dispatch to the New York Times.

Some months ago the bishop caused a sensation by publishing an edict prohibiting the burial of Protestants in the joint communal cemetery at Farnack, near Strassburg. A short while afterward Emperor William received the bishop at the railway station at Strassburg. The emperor was very angry. He said:

"You have caused an audience, bishop. I am greatly dissatisfied with you. You have cursed a German cemetery. Remember that the emperor will never allow intolerant curses of that kind. Your duty is to bless, not curse." The bishop said he had withdrawn the edict, and the emperor added:

"That is very fortunate for you. Let me tell you that you are to serve God according to your conscience, but you must also serve the kaiser and the fatherland. If necessary the emperor's hand can be strong as iron."

The details of this conversation were recently made public.

Men Faster Than Horses.

Men who are exercised in running outstrip horses, or, at least, hold their speed for a longer continuance. In a journey a man will walk down a horse, and after they have both proceeded for several days the horse will be quite tired and the man as fresh as in the beginning.

Mac & Mac, "comedy acrobats," are with Fannie Wood at opera house tonight.

Eggs Wanted.

The poultry keeper wants eggs. He wants them too when they are worth the most money. L. R. Noyes of Brandon, Vt., tells of his success with poultry: "I have used 'Page's Perfected Poultry Food' for about one year and my hens beat all other ones around here laying eggs."
